

The website is basically organized according to the sitemap that was provided by the client:

The “My PROsocial Story” would contain Youtube videos. The “Events” would include event calendars (The clients wanted detailed info of events to be on the home page later in the execution phase.).

“Fact or Fiction” is a section on the home page that has “True or False” questions. the user chooses the answer and view the analysis.

The client requested a map in the execution phase and we appended contact information.